Serena was born in the splendid and lively Naples and in her life and career she could only gather many profound influences, especially artistic, that her city could offer her: from love for music and dance to passion for theater and all that it gave and still continues to give her deep emotions.

Serena has dedicated herself since childhood to acting, classical dance and singing studies, further perfecting her singing career with the maestro Antonio de Curtis, nephew of the great "Totò".

Serena's great passion for art leads her to attend the Art Institute of Naples and once graduated she starts attending the Faculty of Architecture and, in the same period continuing to cultivate acting and singing, however, lead her to work in different prose shows and in 1997 with great satisfaction, to record your first solo CD "Soul Soul".

In the summer of 2012 she is the conductor of the Festival show, becoming the protagonist of the Radio Birikina and Radio Bella & Monella event that touches the main cities of Northern Italy. She is flanked on stage by the event coordinator, Paolo Baruzzo. Between November and December he takes part again in the program Tale e cosa show - The tournament on Rai 1, in which he plays Lara Fabian, with the song Adagio (first episode), Mina, with the song Città Vuota (second episode) and Madonna, with the song Like a prayer (third and last episode). In 2014, Disney reconfirms (also through her Twitter account) her voice on the actress Georgina Haig, in the role of Elsa in the fourth season of Once Upon a Time, giving life to a real revolution in the dubbing with the talents , together with Serena Rossi, who obviously will redo Anna, played by newcomer actress Elizabeth Lail [4].
